Project: Abstracts / Annotated Bibliography

Description: The focus of BASMAA member programs on special studies as opposed to the more typical routine stormwater runoff monitoring conducted by other stormwater programs created a need unique to BASMAA to share these data among the member programs. This project supplemented the Monitoring Committee's special studies list by taking the information sharing process to the next step. The project makes it cheaper and easier for member programs to track and receive results on each other's studies. The development of a formal information transfer process was expected to speed transfers and to foster peer review of study designs and results.
